

Superior Performance, Superior Results

Problem

Organizations face a tremendous amount of change when implementing an EMR solution. That change compounded with the high costs of implementation, aggressive timelines and the risk of failure causes great apprehension to companies undertaking such a high profile project.

Solution

Niche consulting firm, Sagacious Consultants understands this concern. They address it directly by identifying key performance indicators, benchmarking performance and recognizing risks that can limit success. Their guarantee to deliver timely installs with high levels of quality and end-user satisfaction is no accident. Sagacious Consultants specializes exclusively in Epic implementations, and most of their employees are ex-Epic.

Expertise

It starts with Shane Adams, Founder and President of Sagacious Consultants. His senior project management experience and prior role with Epic afforded him the opportunity to work with some of the biggest healthcare organizations across the nation. He led numerous installs, supported countless go-lives, and helped develop some of the best practice workflows used today.

“We are growing Sagacious by delivering unparalleled results to our clients, providing employees with outstanding benefits and giving back to the community,” explains Shane.

With solid knowledge of the system, Sagacious can focus solely on designing the system to best suit the client’s needs. They know how to adapt the system to an organization as their employees have successfully implemented Epic software time and time again.

Epic Consulting Services

- Build Analysts
- Team Leads
- Project Managers
- Trainers
- Go-live support
- Other roles on demand

Significant contributions are made to local charities that promote health, happiness and well-being.

View “Charities” page on our site for details

With You in Mind

Sagacious Consultants also partners with other prominent consulting firms. If they believe an outside member best serves a client, Sagacious will subcontract a trusted, senior consultant to ensure the client’s success.

Sagacious Consultants is socially responsible. Significant contributions are made to local charities that promote health, happiness and well-being. When partnering with a client, Sagacious will work with them to choose the organization(s) that best satisfies that vision for the community.

For more information or any inquires, contact Sagacious Consultants at Info@SagaciousConsultants.com.